Kushal Patel

Department of Economics
Department of Finance, Investment, and Banking
University of Wisconsin–Madison
1180 Observatory Drive, Madison, WI 53706

Updated: October 2026

kypatel@wisc.edu
(508) 243-0143

Education

University of Wisconsin–Madison
Ph.D. in Economics and Finance (joint) 2023 – Present

Boston University
M.A. in Economics 2021
B.A. in Mathematics and Economics 2021

Research Interests

Macro-finance, international finance (primary)
Asset pricing, time-series econometrics (secondary)

Research Papers

Working Papers

Foreign Currency Borrowing and the Investment Channel of Monetary Policy

– Third-Year Paper Award, Wisconsin School of Business, 2026

Work in Progress

Ramsey Taxation and Short-Term Debt as a Shock Absorber

Policy Reports

Policies for Improving Sovereign Debt Restructurings

– with Horacio Sapriza. Richmond Fed Economic Brief No. 23-04, February 2023

How Important Are Asset Price Fluctuations for Business Investment?

– with Marios Karabarbounis. Richmond Fed Economic Brief No. 23-05, February 2023

Honors and Awards

Third-Year Paper Award, Wisconsin School of Business 2026

Research Experience

University of Wisconsin–Madison
Research Assistant for Rishabh Kirpalani 2026 – Present
Research Assistant for Jason Allen 2025

Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond
Research Associate (Supervisors: Marios Karabarbounis and Horacio Sapriza) 2021 – 2023

Teaching

University of Wisconsin–Madison, Department of Economics
Teaching Assistant, Intermediate Macroeconomics (ECON 302) Fall 2025
Teaching Assistant, Introductory Microeconomics (ECON 101) Fall 2024
Teaching Assistant, Introductory Macroeconomics (ECON 102) 2023 – 2024

Service

Referee: Journal of Money, Credit and Banking

Skills

Programming: Julia, Fortran, Python, MATLAB, Stata, R
Languages: English (native), Gujarati (fluent)

References

Rishabh Kirpalani
Scott and Kathryn Happ Professor of Economics
Department of Economics
University of Wisconsin–Madison
rishabh.kirpalani@wisc.edu

Charles Engel
Donald Hester Professor of Economics
Department of Economics
University of Wisconsin–Madison
cengel@ssc.wisc.edu